an initiative of the Victorian Women's Trust.

You are invited.....

To be part of Vida's Voices – Young Women Speak – the first girl-only statewide public speaking competition aimed at year 10 girls.

We are inviting you to be part of the inaugural Vida's Voices 2010. This unique speaking competition is designed to develop leadership, awareness of women's issues and speaking prowess. Girls in metropolitan Melbourne, rural and regional areas of Victoria will compete.

A small group of specially trained girls will teach the participating students, judge and organize the competitions. These leaders will run training days for all participating students where public speaking skills, specific content and competition criteria will be taught. On this day a prominent female will also address the girls on the topic issue. In this way we also hope to develop closer links between young and experienced women.

We welcome anyone who is interested in participating either by judging, helping on a key day, being a guest speaker or helping to publicise the event. If you are interested, could you please make contact with us on the details below and we can provide you with any further information you would like.

The Victorian Women's Trust website has further details about the competition.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.
