

2021-22 SUB-FUND PROGRAM GUIDELINES

The Victorian Women's Trust was established in recognition of the role of women in shaping Victoria. We conduct research and advocacy for women, and every year we provide grants to projects that help women and girls thrive. Since 1985, we have seen community projects take shape, grow and change lives — all through the power of targeted grant-making.

The Victorian Women's Benevolent Trust has fifteen Sub-Funds open for grants in 2021-22. The Sub-Funds provide small grants to eligible organisations for innovative programs for Victorian women and girls that directly address the purposes of each Sub-Fund. We ask applicants to carefully consider and address these purposes when applying for a grant.

Applicant organisations are asked to only apply to one Sub-Fund, so they should choose the most appropriate Sub-Fund for their project.

Applicants are encouraged to read our grant ethos before submitting an application.

ELIGIBILITY AND EXCLUSIONS

- The Victorian Women's Benevolent Trust cannot fund individuals.
- Grant applicants must be endorsed by the Australian Taxation Office for Item 1, Deductible Gift Recipient (DGR), and either Tax Concession Charity (TCC) or can prove that they would be charitable but for their connection with government (usually established by a letter from the ATO). Applicants must provide a copy of these endorsements, or a letter from the ATO, at the time of application.
- Eligibility is strictly limited to groups that operate for charitable purposes and either provide relief of poverty, sickness, suffering, distress, misfortune, destitution or helplessness amongst Victorian women or operate for purposes beneficial to Victorian women.

- Projects must address the needs of women and girls living in Victoria.
- VWBT is open to funding the project of an eligible organisation in partnership with another organisation.
- VWBT does not provide matching or shortfall funding for government funded projects, infrastructure or operational costs.

IF SUCCESSFUL – REPORTING AND EXPECTATIONS

Effective reporting benefits all parties. It helps us to better inform our donors and future grant-making decisions, and it helps the grant recipient by clarifying the links between objectives and outcomes. The wider community gains through exposure to the knowledge and experience from the project.

Successful grant recipients are expected to:

- provide a final report on project outcomes and as appropriate, progress reports;
- complete a financial acquittal;
- co-operate with VWBT for our promotional materials and publications such as photos for our annual report and newsletters;
- accommodate site visits when requested (and where safe during the COVID-19 pandemic);
- acknowledge VWBT in any promotional material or media resulting from the grant; and
- work with VWBT, where appropriate, in exploring possible policy implications of the project.
